To perpetuate the memory of our first-known progenitor, John Darby, who lived in Marblehead, Mass., 1677, and to rescue from oblivion those of his descendants gone before and those now living, for future posterity, this little book is a reminder that time is swiftly passing.

DERBY GENEALOGY.

In 1677 one John Darby¹, as the name was generally spelled until a recent date, and correspondingly pronounced—a custom recognized and conformed to in these pages—was a fisherman of Marblehead, where he owned a cottage and a small lot of land. For lack of evidence to the contrary, it may be presumed that he was b. in England, and came to this country in his early manhood to seek his fortune amid the novelties and wonders of the new world. Possibly he was the bro. of Roger Darby, known to be a native of Topsham, Devonshire, who landed at Boston July 18, 1671, and set. at Salem, and from whom descended the celebrated surgeon and oculist, Dr. Derby of the present day. By his w., Alice —. John Darby¹ had 5 chn., the second of whom, John², was b. Oct. 8, 1681. This John Darby², who in his “will,” 1747, spelt his name Darbie, m. Deborah, dau. of ~~Roger~~ Conant, and located first at Beverly, but went thence to Ipswich about 1720, and from there in 1731 to Concord, where he d. March 7, 1753.

DARBY, ANDREW³, the first of the name in Westminster, was s. of John² and Deborah, b. in Beverly, Jan. 26, 1706-7. He was to begin with a weaver by trade, as was his f. before him. In 1733 he purchased land in Concord, “New Grant,” now Acton, and, after the incorporation of that town in 1735, took an active part in public affairs, proving himself to be a man of ability, character and influence. He served the public as Assessor 3 yrs., Selectman 4 yrs., and Constable—an officer of much more dignity and importance in those days than now—1 yr. He disposed of his Acton estate in 1746. and 2 yrs. later, May 10, 1748, purchased lot No. 22 in Narragansett, with house and grist-mill upon it, located at the outlet of W. pond, of Seth Walker, and there he set, and ever afterwards lived. His occupation conferred upon him the familiar title of "Miller Darby," by which he was designated in all the country round about. He soon won the respect and confidence of the people at large, and was elected to numerous positions of honor and trust. He filled the office of Proprietors' Clerk, 1750-1754, and was for some yrs. both Assessor and member of the Standing Committee before the incorporation of the township. He was one of the first Assessors of the district of W., and also a Selectman, occupying those posts of service 7 and 4 years respectively. He moreover was active and influential in the affairs of the church, as elsewhere noted. He acquired considerable property, and in his day was undoubtedly one of the town's most substantial and trustworthy citizens. On his tombstone in the old cemetery is this inscription:

ANDREW DARBY, DIED MAR. 23, 1783, A. 76.

"He was a lover of God's Word and worship, constant in his attendance at His House of Prayer, and now rests from his labors, and the reward of his works do follow."

He m., 1728, Elizabeth Patch, - incidents of ptge. and b. unknown, and had 9 chn., all b. in Concord and Acton, most of whom set. in W. and vicinity, and were represented subsequently in many of the families of the place, their descendants still being found here. REVOLUTIONARY PERIOD.

A meeting of the votable inhabitants was held Aug. 3, 1774.—

"to take into consideration the distressed state of the province and consider and conclude upon some method proper to relieve ourselves out of the present embarrassments.

"We, the inhabitants of the town of Westminster, having at a town meeting duly considered the distressing circumstances of this province by reason of late acts of the British Parliament (which in a great measure affects all the governments on the continent) whereby our charter privileges and liberties in particular are greatly obstructed and many of them wholly taken away from us, which we think is very arbitrary and oppressive; therefore think ourselves under a necessity to diminish our much embarrassed trade with Great Britain, viz; that we cannot nor will we, either by ourselves or any for or under us, directly or indirectly, after the last day of August instant (unless all our charter rights are restored which are taken from us by the above said acts), purchase of Great Britain or any that shall import therefrom after said day any more clothing, or anything used therefor, or any ornament thereunto belonging, nor any tea or other kind of East India goods except saltpeter and spices and medicinal drugs that shall be imported after said day, nor any liquors used for drinks or any kind of provision (wine only excepted), and all earthen and stone ware and all clocks and watches imported."

Among the signers are the names of Andrew Darby, Nathan Darby, John Darby.

Among the names of soldiers who went to Cambridge upon hearing of the battles of Lexington and Concord, Apr. 19, 1775, for ten days' service, were Captain Jackson's company, in Col. Asa Whitcomb's regiment, Andrew Darby, private; Captain Miles' Company, Col. John Whitcomb's regiment, John Darby, private.

As a reinforcement to the army under Gen. Gates, who had succeeded Gen. Schuyler in the valley of the upper Hudson, the following men enlisted for twenty-seven days' service and were stationed at Fishkill, N. Y., to aid in preventing the passage of the British forces from below northward for the purpose of co-operating with Burgoyne in his much-vaunted invasion. They remained at their post till after the surrender of the enemy on the 17th of Oct. 1777: Andrew Darby, Nathan Darby.

DARBY, JOHN², m. Deborah, dau. of John⁵ Conant, a descendant of Roger³ Conant, the first in America.

Chn. of John² and Deborah (Conant) Darby :

John³, b. Dec. 27, 1704.

Andrew³, b. Jan. 26, 1706-7.

Benjamin³, b. Mar. 12, 1710-11; d. young.

Ebenezer³, b. Nov. 23; bapt. Nov. 1712.

Deborah³, b. Apr. 11, 1714.

Benjamin³, b. Nov. 28, 1715.

Joseph³, b. June 10, 1718.

Mary³, b. June 12, 1720.

CONANT, JOHN¹, with whom the authentic genealogy of the family begins, lived in the parish of East Budleigh, Devonshire, Eng.; was probably born about 1520 at Gittsham. His ancestors for many generations had been fixed here, but were originally of French extraction. In the 13th year of the reign of Queen Elizabeth (1571) he was assessed for goods of the yearly value of four pounds; in 1577 was church warden of East Budleigh.

John¹ Conant was buried at East Budleigh Mar. 30, 1596. It seems likely he was the son of the John Conant who was buried at Gittsham Sept. 4, 1559.

CONANT, RICHARD², son of John¹, was probably b. in the parish of East Budleigh, Eng., about the year 1548-1588; was assessed for lands of the yearly value of four pounds; in 1606 and 1616 filled the office of church warden in the parish. Richard² m. Agnes Clark Feb. 4, 1578; dau. of John Clark, the leading merchant of Colyton. Richard² and Agnes had 8 children, of whom Christopher³ and Roger³ were 7th and 8th.

The tales and adventures of Sir Walter Raleigh and Francis Drake must have had an important influence in leading Christopher³ and Roger³ Conant to embark for America. Richard and Agnes were buried same day, Sept. 22, 1630.

CONANT, ROGER³, the immigrant and ancestor of most of those bearing his name in America, was baptized at All Saints church, parish of East Budleigh, Devonshire, Eng., Apr. 9, 1592; was the youngest of 8 children of Richard² and Agnes (Clark) Conant; arrived at Plymouth, Mass., about 1623, probably in the ship Ann in 1625; was chosen governor of Cape Ann settlement of planting and fishing. The number engaged at Cape Ann was about 200. The company lost about 3000 pounds; was then moved to Naumkeag (Salem) the fall of 1626; the colony was then reduced to about 40. The exact site of his home, the first built in Salem, is not known; Mayne's block on Essex St., opposite Derby square, is supposed to cover it. After three years he was superseded by John Endicott, who came over with about 50 colonists. Roger³ m. Sarah Horton Nov. 11, 1618, in the parish of St. Ann, Blackfriars, London, Eng.; died Nov. 19, 1679, in the 88th year of his age. Had 9 children.

CONANT, LOT⁴, 3d child of Roger³, b. about 1624 at Nantasket or Cape Ann; lived at Marblehead, Mass., 1657; was selectman 1662, 1674; one of the 114 householders; moved to Beverly and built a house near his father's; helped form a church at Beverly; he died 29th Sept., 1674; he m. Elizabeth, dau. of Rev. William Walton, who was pastor at Marblehead, Mass., as early as 1639, and until his death 1668. He had 10 children.

CONANT, JOHN⁵, 2d child of Lot⁴, b. Dec. 15, 1652, in Beverly, Mass.; he was farmer and weaver; he settled in Beverly on 60 acres upland, built a house on the north side of the road now called Dodge St., about one-third of a mile from North Beverly station, on the Eastern railroad; a new house has been built and occupied by Andrew Dodge, whose mother, Nancy⁷ Conant, was John's great-great-granddaughter. He served in King Phillip's war; was also a church member; m. May 7, 1678, Bithiah, dau. of Andrew Mansfield of Lynn; d. Sept. 30, 1724. Had 10 chn.

CONANT, DEBORAH⁶, 5th child of John⁵, b. Feb. 20, 1687-8; d. Apr. 13, 1763, in Concord, Mass.; m. John² Darby, a son of John and Alice Darby, who was a fisherman at Marblehead, Mass., 1677.
